About The Janice Dickinson Modeling Agency:

Oxygen's hit series "The Janice Dickinson Modeling Agency" will return for a dramatic and sizzling new season with an episode featuring TINte Cosmetics. For the first time ever, Janice is bringing her models together to live in a Hollywood Hills mansion - and much to their surprise, Janice herself will also be moving in. The diva-turned-den mother will confront a whole new set of challenges as she mixes her returning models with some fresh faces.

Janice faces many business and personal challenges, including her desire to move from commercial to high fashion clients, building a possible plus-sized division - an idea she has been against in the past, and mentoring a hearing-impaired model. Combined with all the model mayhem in the house, season four guarantees more drama than ever before.
